Atlas

Good data in. Fewer surprises out.

A browser-local tool for checking supplier CSV files before import. The interface separates accepted records from exceptions and exports each report with traceable source references.

Inspectable work

- Required-field, duplicate SKU, price and stock checks
- Quoted CSV and UTF-8 text; comma or semicolon delimiters
- Accepted-data and exception-report downloads
- Local file processing, without sending files to a server

Original studio project with synthetic data. Defined five-column schema; 1 MB and 5,000-record limits. No live store or database connection.

Madar

Knowledge, within reach.

An Arabic document-search experience with simple and advanced queries, collection filters, year ranges and clear empty states. A separate Node.js/SQLite backend is available as runnable source.

Inspectable work

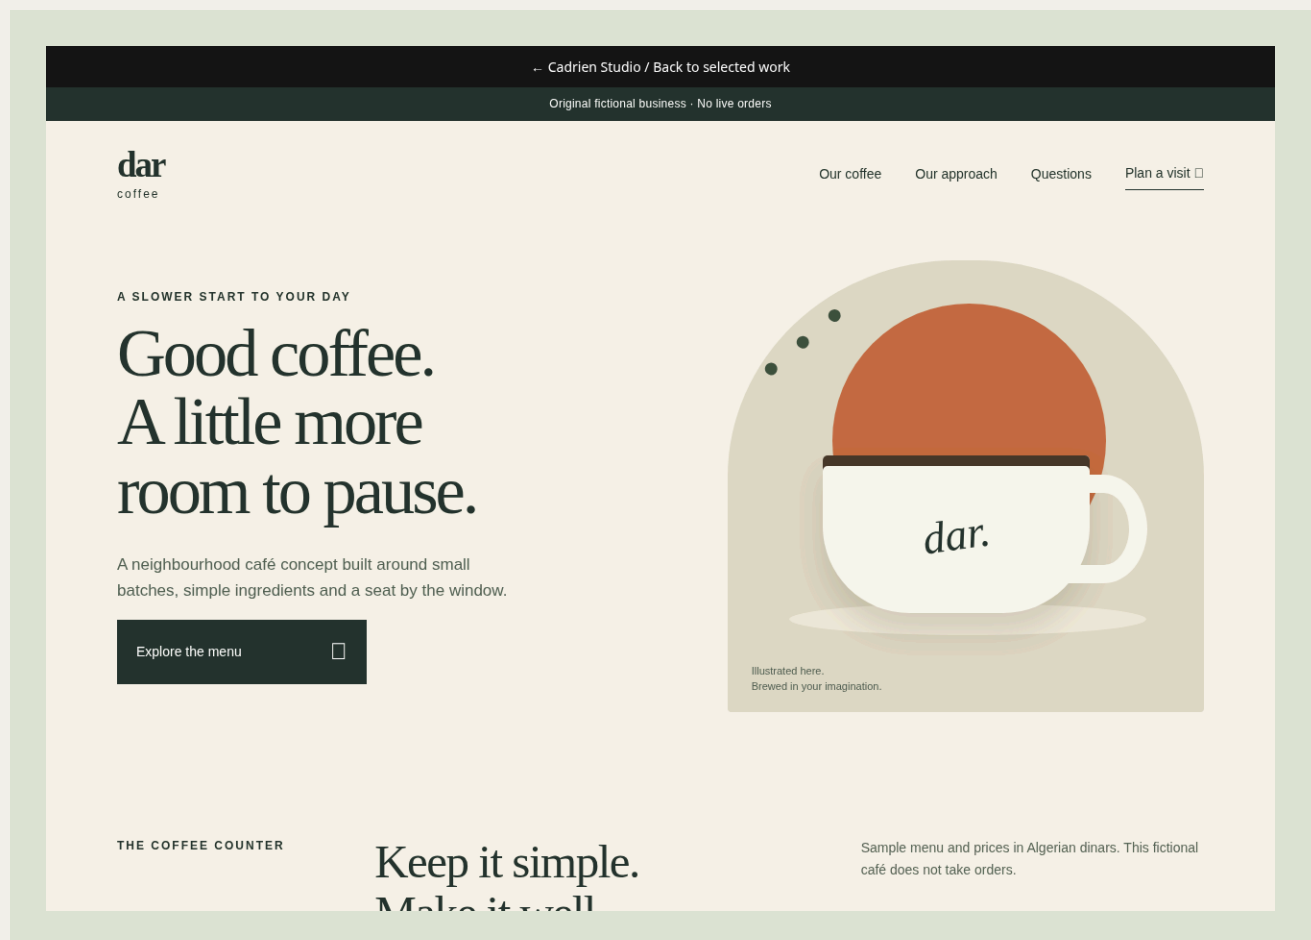

- Arabic search with collection and year filters
- AND, OR and NOT query combinations
- Input validation and meaningful empty states
- Downloadable API source; 17 backend checks passed

Original studio project with eight synthetic records. The browser preview and downloadable API are separate. No authentication, OCR or production archive.

Dar Coffee

A familiar ritual. A distinct presence.

A fictional café identity translated into a warm, purposeful website. Original geometric illustration, expressive typography and a clear mobile experience make the concept tangible.

Inspectable work

- Original visual direction and CSS artwork
- Responsive layout and mobile navigation
- Accessible native FAQ interactions
- Enquiry-form validation with explicit demonstration feedback

Original studio concept for a fictional café. No customer commission, reservations, payments or message delivery.
